5. GUIDE FOR AUTHORS

5.1. Paper categories

Research Papers, which report novel information, beyond simply representing a confirmation of previously published work. Research papers must not exceed 20 manuscript pages, including tables and figures.

Short Papers are used to publish results which represent a major finding or a new discovery, not including preliminary results, which should therefore be published quickly (first records, reports & observations are not welcome). Short Papers should contain sufficient data to establish that the research has achieved reliable and significant results.

Technical Notes should report new methods and/or procedures for research methodology.

Short papers and technical notes, which present results of brief but significant work, must not exceed 10 manuscript pages, including tables and figures.

Review Articles: Only invited reviews will be considered for publication. Authors wishing to publish a review article should seek prior approval from Editor-in-Chief, by sending the abstract and a cover letter indicating the importance of the review to info@trjfas.org. Review articles, solicited by the editorial board, should not exceed 30 manuscript pages, including tables and figures.

5.2. Preparation of Manuscripts for Submission

Submission of an article implies that the presented work and results have not been published or submitted for publication elsewhere, and that its publication is approved by all authors. All authors are requested to disclose any actual or potential conflict of interest.

Main document is usually divided into following sections:

- ✓ Title of manuscript
- ✓ Number of pages

Three to five key words (not present in the title) should be listed below the abstract.

The abstract should be written in English.

- ✓ Introduction;
- ✓ Materials & Methods;

- ✓ Results & Discussion;
- ✓ Conclusion
- ✓ Acknowledgements;
- ✓ References
- ✓ Tables
- ✓ Figures
- ✓ Highlights*

* Highlights should be represented by three to five result-oriented points that provide readers with an at-a-glance overview of the main findings of your article. They should represent a quick snippet of the results—short and intriguing. Each Highlight should have no more than 90 characters, including spaces.

5.2.1.1. References

The 6th Edition of APA Citation guidelines should be used. You can use the following guide for reference formatting: clicking this link
